Move shoves WELH airing to October

by Lisa Green

Eastern's campus radio station, WELH, is currently targeted to begin broadcasting by mid-October.

WELH General Manager Joe Heumann said the reason for the delay is because the station is currently being moved from Coleman Hall to the Radio/Television Center, located in the Buzzard Building.

As reported in the The Summer Eastern News, the move is being made because of the better location and equipment.

He said the move will delay broadcasting because of the relocation of equipment and construction work, which must be completed before the radio station can settle in and begin work.

John Beabout, Radio/TV Center director said the relocation of WELH is currently on schedule.

"We've had to disconnect and repair a lot of existing equipment. All the partitions are up. As soon as the renovation is done we can put in the new equipment."

He added that after the renovation construction is completed, it will take another two weeks to install the wiring necessary for the station's equipment.

"It's not in the real far future; we're talking about four weeks or less," Beabout added.

While the construction and relocation is being conducted, the station's staff has taken the opportunity to organize and get ready for the coming year.

Student Station Manager Ross Olsby said the staff has already had their general meeting and is currently trying to fill positions that are still available.

He added that the open positions include disc jockeys, news and sportscasters, sales and public relations representatives.

Olsby said experience is not necessary for those interested in applying for one of the slots. However, he added that this year disc jockeys who want to be on the staff, including those returning from last year will have to be interviewed by appointment.

"We're after a much more professional sound and as a result we're decreasing the size of the staff. In the past we've had 75-80 students working at one time and some with less than professional attitudes," Olsby said.

"What that means is we want a more serious attitude to create a more professional sound. If everything works out we'd like to have 35-40," he added.

Broadcast hours for the station may also take a cut this year, Olsby said. Last year, WELH broadcast from 6 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. He said, however, this year's hours might change depending on the size of the staff.

"If we don't have enough good disc jockeys, we won't go on until 10 a.m. If we have good ones we'll stay on until 2 a.m.," Olsby said.

These hours, however, will not be determined until the interviews have been completed, he said, with the interviews being conducted Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week by appointment.

Olsby said people interested in being on the staff of WELH should contact program director Nancy Scovie at 345-1236.

"The clean and wholesome looking" Candice Earley who portrays the popular character Donna Cortlandt on the daytime soap opera, "All My Children," was on hand to sign autographs and jaw with Eastern students Wednesday. Earley tight-lipped on plot outline

Monique Wassenaar and Lisa Green
A well-known daytime actress discovered in a cafe. Is the cliché sound familiar?

But Candice Earley, who portrays Donna Cortlandt on the popular TV soap opera "All My Children," said Wednesday in the Union Grand Ballroom that it's exactly how she got her start in show business.

While doing the Broadway play "Grease" Earley was in a cafe with her agent when the casting director of the soap wanted to know "who the clean and wholesome looking woman was" with a face as fresh as "apple pie." She added that, "Three months later I was on as a hooker."

Earley was on campus as the "headlining event" of the University Union's "Happy Hour." Several students asked for tips about future storylines for the show, but Earley said actors and actresses on the soap opera usually don't know where the story lines are leading.

"We are so close in our air time to our taping time," Earley said. "They don't tell us what's going on and I don't like to know. One reason is I've got a big mouth," she said.

Earlier this year, Earley said, the cast was about six weeks ahead in taping but ABC's taping equipment was used at the 1984 Olympics this summer and now the schedule of taping for "All My Children" is only about four days ahead of air time.

However, Earley did tell the audience that "somebody's coming back to Pine Valley and it's somebody everybody asks about."

Before Earley began fielding questions from the audience she gave a brief, almost rhythmic and partially sarcastic, summary of her character and its interaction with other characters.

Earley's character on the show began in May of 1976 as a 17-year-old prostitute. The role was created as a tribute to a 14-year-old prostitute named Karen Beck who lived in the Minnesota area and was found dead in a hotel room, she said.

Agnes Nixon, the show's "creating and guiding force" created the character because she wanted to (See EARLEY, page seven)

Attempted hijack foiled in Iran

NICOSIA, Cyprus—Iran said today it foiled a hijacking attempt during a domestic flight and arrested four would-be sky pirates.

“A report reaching Tehran indicated that the hijackers, said to number four, were arrested following a clash at the Isfahan airport in central Iran, where the plane landed on its way to Tehran,” Iran’s official Islamic Republic News Agency said in a report monitored in Cyprus.

Hijackers wanted to take the plane to Iraq, and the pilot had been forced to change his route, but “security measures taken inside plane foiled the hijacking plot,” the news agency said.

Pope talks of econmics, people

FLATROCK, Newfoundland—Pope John Paul II blessed the hard-pressed fishermen the poor, rocky coast Wednesday, and delivered a powerful indictment of modern economies that fail to put “people over things.”

Governments must change their economic systems and chronic unemployment, “so that the human needs be put before mere financial gain,” the pontiff told several thousand people.

‘Diana’ stalls off eastern coast

WILMINGTON, N. C.—Hurricane Diana intensified Wednesday as it drifted “with no sense of direction” just off the coast, and thousands of people were warned to stay in shelters because it could still wander ashore with 115 mph winds and giant storm tides.

Gov. Jim Hunt said Wednesday after inspecting the Wilmington area he didn’t know if the state would seek disaster aid. “It’s questionable now,” he said. “The important thing is to keep watch on it.”

Reagan, Mondale trade tax barbs

by the Associated Press

President Ronald Reagan and Democratic challenger Walter F. Mondale traded new gibes and accusations on taxes on Wednesday, while a congressional committee said it would formally investigate allegations concerning financial disclosure statements filed by Mondale’s running mate, Rep. Geraldine Ferraro.

All four major candidates were on the campaign trail, with Vice President George Bush talking about arms control, while Reagan and Mondale concentrated on budgets, taxes and the nation’s economy.

Reagan escalated his recent criticism with a contention in a Buffalo, N.Y., speech that Mondale’s tax-increase plans would put a “ball and chain around America’s neck.”

Mondale, on the other hand, said in Iowa that Reagan himself would likely raise taxes more than $500 a year for middle-income families making $25,000.

In other rhetorical flourishes, Reagan called Mondale’s deficit-reduction plan a “fairy tale” and Mondale said American families had gone deep into debt because of the government’s “Reagancharge Card.”

In Washington, the House ethics committee added another element to the campaign announcing it would start a “preliminary inquiry” into allegations concerning Ferraro’s disclosure records.

Ferraro in a statement released through her aide, said, “I have made the most complete and thorough disclosure of any candidate for national office in American history.”

“As I understand the committee’s rules, receipt of the conservative action group’s complaint virtually obligated them to process it. I will cooperate fully with the committee, and I look forward to a favorable outcome.”

Gromyko, Reagan agree to meet

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has been a spokesman for the Soviet Union in foreign affairs for a quarter of a century. But he is considered the chief architect of Kremlin policy in a period of sour relations between the superpowers.

His expanded role will be underlined Sept. 28 when he meets President Reagan. It will be Reagan’s first meeting with a top Soviet official, but for Gromyko it will be familiar ground.

Gromyko, 75, has met eight former presidents in the Oval Office during a foreign policy career that started in 1939. He was appointed Soviet ambassador to Washington in 1943 and has been in on significant Soviet-American meeting since Yalta in 1945.

“He’s been a member of the Politburo for 11 years and I think he’s just about pre-eminent now, very powerful,” said a Western diplomat addressing Gromyko’s foreign policy role. The diplomat spoke on condition he not be identified.

There have been rumors that Chernenko is in ill health and some believe that power in the Kremlin has been divided, putting Gromyko in charge of foreign policy.

In a recent interview, former U.S. National Security Adviser Brent Scowcroft said “I think Gromyko is, in fact, the foreign policy.”

It might be a mark of Gromyko’s style that the Soviet Union has not mentioned his meeting with Reagan.

Ferraro faces ethics investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House ethics committee voted unanimously today to conduct a formal inquiry into allegations the Rep. Geraldine Ferraro violated financial disclosure requirements of the Ethics in Government Act.

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, chairman of the 12-member panel, said the inquiry into the Democratic vice presidential nominee was "analogous to a grand jury" investigation.

In approving what is legally termed a "preliminary inquiry" the committee made "no prejudgment of any kind as to the validity of the allegations," Stokes said after the 90-minute, closed-door meeting.

"This committee will now conduct a preliminary inquiry... to ascertain the merit of the allegations," said Stokes, who added that he could not predict how long the process would take.

The organization says that Ms. Ferraro wrongly claimed exemptions from revealing her husbands assets and liabilities on the disclosure statements she filed with the ethics committee since coming to Congress.

Wesel breaks tie for OCSHA post, president upset

The Student Senate approved Cheryl Enk as Off-Campus Student Housing Agency vice president after a heated debate at its meeting Wednesday.

The 11-11-5 tie vote was broken by senate Speaker Ron Wesel, who voted to approve the Legislative Leadership committee's recommendation.

"That's what legislative leadership is for—to screen those people," Wesel said in justifying his vote.

Wesel also expressed confidence in Enk's capabilities. "I just hope this doesn't discourage Cheryl," he said.

OCSHA President Terra Yarbrough said she was not happy with the decision to approve Enk over senator Barb Pardee, another candidate for the position.

"It's going to take me another month to get her familiar with the files," she said.

However, Yarbrough did not question Enk's capabilities, only her qualifications as opposed to Pardee's, who worked on OCSHA during the summer. "I've heard good things about Cheryl," she said.

Pardee was also disappointed in the appointment. "It is OCSHA that is going to suffer," she said.

In other business, the senate approved eight students to fill the empty senate seats. In the Residence Hall district freshmen Bill Helmbacher and Kim Swanson, and junior Dave Cox were approved.

Approved in the At-large district were freshman Michelle Long, senior Clifton Graham, senior Mike Kirchhoff, junior Dave Wetherton and senior Marty Morgan.

Two senate seats remain open, one each in the Residence Hall and Off-campus districts, Wesel said.

Petitions for the open seats will be available in the Student Government office at 8 a.m. Thursday, and the deadline will be noon Sept. 18, Wesel said.

In other business, some vacancies in student-faculty boards were filled. However, Executive Vice President Angelynn Richardson said almost all boards still need student members.

New registrars can add power to student vote

As the adage goes, there is strength in numbers and power in the polls. The Coles County Clerk must have had this in mind when she OK'd the Student Senate to register voters.

Now that the senate has been recognized by the State Board of Elections as a bonafide civic organization, certain members of the senate are able to head voter registration drives at several locations on campus.

Though opportunity knocks at the senate's door, they should be sure this power to register voters is the chance to do something as a group, as well as a chance to give strength to student voices.

And this registration effort should be a collective one between the senate and other campus organizations. That is the best way for the program to meet its goal.

If the senate is aiming at registering at least 1,000 students this year, it must be a collective effort rather than a chaotic attempt by individual groups.

The senate should unite and strive toward getting students a more effective voice in state and federal government.

Students should be made aware of the impact that their votes can have. The excuse that government does not listen will be null if all students participate in the upcoming election.

With this new power, the senate will be able to go to the students rather than the students going to the drive. Laziness and lack of time should not be factors.

Not only is registration good for students, but the drives are good for the politicians as well. If enough students register, each candidate will realize that students are not apathetic and do care about issues.

Coles County Clerk Jackie Bacon should be commended for her quick action in approving senators as registrars. The senate also must be lauded for accepting the challenge to give students strength at the polls.

Now that the power has been bestowed, we hope the senate realizes the opportunity knocking before them. We further hope students will open the door when, in turn, the senate registrars come knocking.

Benefits can attract quality educators

During the summer, a proposal to eliminate tuition for spouses and children of faculty was introduced by Faculty Senate member Herb Morice.

According to Morice, this new program would contribute an added benefit for current Eastern faculty and also provide more incentive for new instructors considering a career at Eastern.

Although the proposal will benefit faculty only, it is currently in a never-never land because of bickering between the Faculty Senate and the teachers' union.

The typical student attitude toward this proposal seems to be one of, "If I have to pay...then so do they."

It was exactly this type of attitude that got fraternities in trouble a few years back when actives said, "If I had to go through hazing...then so do the pledges."

But the fact remains that we are losing qualified and competent faculty members to institutions with better incentives than Eastern.

As students, we should be concerned about this faculty loss. Most of us expect to receive quality education at Eastern and we will be dissatisfied if we don't.

Eastern is a low-paying, low-benefit institution. It's not an easy task to attract and maintain good faculty members here. It would not be an easy task for a company or corporation to hire, let alone interview,

Personal file:

qualified people if it offered such low pay and low benefits.

Fortunately, the problem is not critical yet, and with a little bit of preventative maintenance, we can solve it by raising salaries (to which nearly everyone except the faculty is opposed), or at minimum, by increasing the benefits of faculty.

Lake Land Community College has used this type of tuition benefit for some time now. Isn't it about time we caught up with them?

Students shouldn't be opposed to such measures; they'll help them attain a higher education.

By now, it might be apparent that I am a faculty member's son. It doesn't make a difference though. Chances are that by the time the program is implemented, I will have graduated and gone with the wind.

It's time Eastern finally awakens from its Rip-Van-Winkle-like sleep and provide better working conditions, better pay and better benefits for its faculty. —John Best is a reporter for The Daily Eastern News.

Unregistered voter unveils true choice

It's nearing election time and once again I find myself questioning the validity of this wonderful two-party system. That's right, I am 20 years old and still an unregistered voter and have no burning desire to become one. As a wayward child of the system I won't vote, as I refuse to cast bait into a pool of political piranhas.

Initially, those who learn of this strange abstinence group me into the unaware majority. And yet when I am fairly able to expound upon a current political issue, I am deemed apathetic and charged with allowing myself to be manipulated by those in power.

Simply put, why support a system which offers no real choices?

Democracy, as we do so love to call it, supposedly calls for input from everyone. Unfortunately, the only place it ever works is in a 6th grade homeroom class. A small group of 25 people making a most distinct show of hands are assured of having an equal voice.

That is democracy. An electoral college which acts as a gatekeeper to the individual is not democracy, but the center of a political machine which leads us to believe we have a voice and brainwashes us each election year into pulling a lever and pushing a button for the candidate of our 'choice.'

Implying a most personal decision, this 'choice' leads us to believe that we are actually having an influence. But upon closer examination, are we not merely choosing to (or not to) condone a system which benefits no one except those in the upper echelons?

Every election we see as many as five candidates and sometimes as few as one. More candidates, more choices, right? Wrong.

The very same group of political schemers who have scratched one another's backs for years are the ones who will end up over and over as 'our' choices.

Two different parties, two different platforms, eh? There are the Republicans, traditionally business and family-oriented, and Democrats, the underdog's friend.

I put it to you that there is actually only one party. Views and ideology are twisted and shaped to fit the particular audiences so the voter is left with some cliche middle path leading back to the advantage of those in office.

Crossview:

The Oklahoma Daily

What about the third party? Don't you mean when the wagon will they jump on this time? It doesn't matter because they begin to gain momentum, either the Democrats or the Republicans will warp their platforms to pull in those outer edges, shedding the like dead skin as the latest political wind blows through and the victory is cinched.

And the extremes to which candidates go are always amazing.

At both of the conventions, various antics were played out to snag votes. Instead of the traditional "Happy Days Are Here Again," rock music blared out of the loudspeakers. Tricky move to sway the aging hippies and politically correct yuppies.

See, it is all part of the charade, the blind process, as I call it. The attention getters distract the voter away from the real truth.

Local or national level, it makes no difference, but persist with the annual registration drives. Student Body grabs my arm, "Are you registered to vote yet?"

"No."

And then I hear screams of "If you don't like it, vote and change it!"

Which leads us to the largest fallacy of all. If we believe that voting changes things, then yes, you can continue to blind yourself in some search for inner peace. But if one looks at the track record then one realizes very little if anything is changed through voting, and the ones on top merely use it as a means to live out powertrips.

Perhaps blind faith is what will drive those 18-20-year-olds to the polls to vote on something they can't have.

—David Fallis is a junior at Oklahoma University, Norman, Okla.

One's senses can be the start of a friendship

Noreen Reilly

Using all five of the senses to make contact with people is vital to starting and nurturing friendships.

"We want to be touched, but we have many taboos about touching. A handshake is an accepted way to reach out and touch another person,"

Donnie Rawlins said Wednesday during a noon seminar on "Making Friends" in the Union addition Computer Room. The seminar was the first in a series sponsored by the Counseling Center.

Rawlins, a faculty member in the department of psychology and guidance counseling, cited the handshake as a first step to improving communication with people, especially at group meetings. She also discussed the differences between "hard" and "soft" faces people wear.

A "hard" face is the expression people wear when they need to get something done in a hurry or have a lot of things on their minds, Rawlins said. They tend to make little or no eye contact, rarely turn their heads and walk at a fast pace. A "soft" expression is more relaxed, eye contact is made and the pace is not so brisk, she added.

People consciously and unconsciously block communication, Rawlins said. One of these blocks is responding to another person.

"Communication is a two way street, and not being able to give feedback is a block," she said. Verbal and nonverbal cues are important in communication, Rawlins said. Body language especially send out messages.

"Open body positions are more inviting than closed" as far as initiating and maintaining a conversation goes, Rawlins said.

Man wounded by burglar

by Tom Parisi

A Mattoon man was shot and seriously wounded Wednesday morning when he interrupted a burglary in progress at Godfather's Pizza, 1421 Lakeland Boulevard, Mattoon.

Carl L. Carter, a 22-year-old employee of Godfather's Pizza, surprised a burglar upon opening the business at about 5:45 a.m. Wednesday.

According to the Mattoon Police Department, the suspect apparently shot Carter and then escaped in Carter's vehicle, which was later recovered northeast of Mattoon. The suspect is described as a black male, six feet tall.

Carter was taken to Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center and later transferred by ambulance to Carle Clinic in Champaign where he was reported in fair condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

David Middleman, manager of Godfather's Pizza, said that it was too early to tell if anything had been stolen because there was a lot of merchandise in the restaurant.

Middleman said he did not know the nature of Carter's wound, but that Carter was able to call the police after the shooting.

Kay Myers of the Mattoon Police Department read the police statement and added that the State Crime Scene, Department of Criminal Investigation and Coles County Sheriff's Department have joined the investigation.

The Mattoon Police refused to release anymore details on the shooting. Myers said the police probably wouldn't be allowed to talk with Carter until Friday.

AB to consider budget changes

by Charlotte Arnold

The Apportionment Board will vote Thursday on budget changes proposed by the Sports and Recreation Board, University Board and Student Government.

Tammy Walker, AB chairman, said the board will be addressed by Dave Dutler, Eastern's director of intramurals. Dutler is seeking additional funding of approximately $3,500 for intramural advertising and approval of a $3,000 computer purchase using reserve accounts, Walker said.

UB will request approval of a program offering group and series discounts for performing arts and lectures, Walker said.

UB is also requesting an Eventsful price increase, from the budgeted price of $3.25 to $3.50 in addition to seeking approval of a budget increase for Human Potential lectures, Walker noted.

The Student Government is seeking a $1,000 budget transfer to accommodate the student discount card program. This transfer will allow the advertisers' money to be utilized for the cost of preparing the cards, she said.

In addition, AB will be facing changes. Walker, newly appointed acting financial vice president, noted that six members have been recently appointed to the eight-member board.

The Apportionment Board is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

and I don't like to know. One reason is I've got a big mouth," she said.

Earlier this year, Earley said, the show was about six weeks ahead in taping but ABC's taping equipment was used at the 1984 Olympics this summer and now the schedule of taping for "All My Children" is only four days ahead of air time.

However, Earley did tell the audience that "somebody's coming back to the Valley and it's somebody everybody asks about."

Before Earley began fielding questions from the audience she gave a brief, almost rhythmical and partly sarcastic, summary of her character and its interaction with other characters.

Earley's character on the show began in May of 1976 as a 17-year-old prostitute. The role was created as a tribute to a 14-year-old prostitute named Karen Beck who lived in the Minneapolis area and was found dead in a hotel room, she said.

Agnes Nixon, the show's "creating and guiding force" created the character because she wanted to show prostitutes that "they could get out of the situation like Donna did" on the show, Earley said.

Earley's character has evolved from prostitute to being a mother and now a recent divorcee of one of the richest men in the New York area. Her character now is a singer at a popular town restaurant, "The Chateau."

"Many actors and actresses use soap operas for stepping stones, but I'm happy on the soap and I don't want to leave," Earley said. She added that she would like to combine her vocal talent with her work on the soap. She recently released a record with four songs on it, all of which she sang on the program, she said.

The actors and actresses usually are at the studio about 12 hours a days, she said. "We work very long hours and there's no place for a prima donna. We're always under the gun," she added.

"Donna and Candice are not so very different," Earley said, although when she first landed the role she admitted being shy and insecure. "Donna's very bright and we have about the same luck with men. Earley said she often refers to her character as "I" because that's how close you have to get to a character you portray five days a week.

In a personal interview with The Daily Eastern News, Earley said there are several characters on AMC she doesn't know on a personal basis.

She said when they're at the studio everyone spends most of their time going over scenes with their partners. The shows are run through about three times before they are taped, she said.

Earley said although some of the actors and actresses she was close with keep getting "killed off," soap operas is the most secure area of show business. "Which is to say," she added, "you might have a job for 13 weeks."

Earley said many soap operas have gone off the air in two years and a lot of series go off after three or four episodes. She said the woman who portrayed Opal Gardner signed a contract for six weeks and "made such a splash they didn't dare get rid of her."

"If anyone would go into show business for financial security, though, I would tell them to have their head checked," she added.

RHA plans look at Buddy system

The Residence Hall Association Thursday plans to discuss various aspects of the proposed Buddy Button system.

However, RHA vice president Leslie Garrigan refused to comment Wednesday on what the group plans to say concerning the security proposal.

Garrigan said the agenda for the meeting will not be set until late Wednesday during RHA's executive session.

The Residence Hall Association will meet at 4:20 p.m. Thursday in the Triad food service.

Python slithers home after week of freedom

OLNEY Ill. (AP)—Scared mothers can stop calling Olney police and the search parties can get up off their stomachs. After more than a week of freedom, Penny the Python slithered back home, apparently taken with domestic life.

"She found her way home," Carol James said Wednesday, hours after her husband, Robert, found the 13-foot star of the traveling zoo exhibition crossing their lawn and heading back into her cage.

"We're not sure if she was taken and all the publicity made someone nervous enough to return her," she added, "or whether she was just hiding under a neighbor's house."

Cubbies use long-ball to deafeat Expos

CHICAGO (AP)—Ryne Sandberg's two-run homer capped a five-run sixth inning to give the Chicago Cubs an 8-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Wednesday.

The victory reduced the Cubs' magic number to 10. Any combination of 10 victories or New York Met losses will clinch the National League Eastern Division championship for Chicago.

Tom Stoddard, 10-5, pitched the fifth and sixth innings to gain the victory over Rich Bordi. Lee Smith, the Chicago pitcher, worked the final two innings.

Expos starter Bryn Smith, 11-12, who was followed by three relief pitchers in the Cubs' sixth, took the loss.

Ron Cey singled to lead off the sixth, moved to third on Jody Davis' single and scored on Tom Veryzer's grounddout to tie the score 2-2. Bob Dernier later singled home the go-ahead run, and Sandberg followed with his 19th homer to give the Cubs a 6-2 lead.

Andre Dawson's 16th homer, a three-run shot off reliever George Frazier, made it 6-5 in the seventh. But the Cubs added three more in the bottom of the seventh on a throwing error by pitcher Bob James and a two-run homer by pitch-hitter Ron Hassey, his first National league home run, and two more in the eighth on a RBI singles by Cey and Davis.

Eastern's Jeanne Pacione comes down with the spike against St. Louis University's Arlene Lampe (15) and Ann Carrol (21) Wednesday night in Lantz Gym. Eastern defeated the upset-minded Billikins three games to one. (News photo by Kelly J. Huff)

Avoid upset

Panthers top Billikens in volleyball matchup

by Joseph Anglum

The visiting Billikens of St. Louis University nearly pulled the biggest upset of Eastern's young volleyball season Wednesday night at Lantz Gym.

After losing the first game of the match by a 15-2 slate and falling behind the Panthers in the second game by an 8-5 count, St. Louis pulled ahead to take its first lead in the contest at 9-6.

With the score tied at nine apiece in the second game, Eastern head coach Betty Ralston was forced to call a timeout to try and settle down her nervous squad.

But aggressive play from St. Louis combined with Panther miscues resulted in the first game victory of the night for the Billikins, 15-12.

However, the third game of the contest saw St. Louis jump out to a quick 5-1 lead. This had many of the 250 fans in attendance at Lantz sitting on the edge their seats.

Senior Donna Uhler struck first for the Panthers as she broke the ice and gave Eastern their first point in the third game.

Still, St. Louis held the Panthers in check for most of the contest and held on to a 12-7 lead before a Panther rally upended their threat of an upset.

The win gave Eastern a two games to one advantage in the contest.

Game four proved to be more academic as Eastern dumped the Billikins by a 15-9 score.

The Panthers defeated St. Louis last past weekend at the Memphis tournament rather handily, and were planning to do the same again Wednesday, but the Billikins were thinking upset all the way.

Added incentive for St. Louis is the fact that they stood 0-6 on the season coming into Wednesday's match against the Panthers.

However, the contest was not without its highlights for the Panthers as Gretchen Braker again led the way for Eastern.

The senior co-captain had an incredible 33 assists. This, combined with the efforts of senior Donna Uhler, put the Panthers well on their way to victory.

Uhler had 24 kills and 5 errors in 10 attempts for a .372 attack percentage.

The team had a season high 194 attempts and 65 kills on the evening.

Ralston was unavailable for comment after the game.

Eastern now turns its attention toward this weekend's action at the Southern Illinois University tournament at Carbondale before traveling to DePaul University for a Sunday match.

Down and out ISU contest hurt more than just loss column

by Frank Polich and Jeff Long

The 24-17 battering Eastern suffered at the hands of Indiana State last Saturday left the Panthers with more dents than just on their record.

Five key players, three on defense and two on offense, fell victim to injuries last Saturday. However, only one of the injuries was deemed "serious."

The most serious casualty the Panthers suffered was to sophomore tight end Charlie Vinson, who suffered what may be a season-ending knee injury. Vinson will miss a minimum of two weeks, after which a decision will be made on his condition, team physician Dr. Jerry Heath said Wednesday.

"He has cartilage damage in his knee and will be out for at least two weeks," Heath said. "If his condition doesn't progress, we'll do what is called arthroscopy."

Senior linebacker Dave Ferguson, one of the few experienced defensive players, sustained a sprained knee and ankle, which was less devastating than originally thought. However, he will be out of action for at least two weeks, Heath said.

"Dave had a pinched nerve in his knee, which is why we thought it might be more serious than it is," defensive coordinator Larry Edlund said. "His absence will mean we have to play some of the younger kids in his spot—it's a matter of not having his experience in there."

Other casualties on the defense include strong safety Dan Fallon with bruised ribs and defensive tackle Pete Schaub with an ankle injury. Both are listed as "probable" for Saturday's home opener against Northeast Missouri State.

Wide receiver Jerry Wright, one of last week's offensive stars, has a bruised foot but will definitely play Saturday, Heath said.

Wright has sparkled in Eastern's first two games, pulling in 21 passes 272 yards and two touchdowns, and the Panther's passing game can ill-afford to lose Wright.

The rash of injuries has Coach Al Molde worried. "That was my biggest concern coming out of the game," Molde said. "We've got to have those guys back in order to develop into the kind of team I think we can be."

"We've been slowed this week in practice somewhat," Edlund said. "But most of them (injured players) have been practicing all week and should be ready to go."

Underdogs?

The winniest football team in Illinois in the past six years now has its role changed. Eastern, after graduating 15 players, has the role of underdog in 1984 instead of perennial favorite.

Final Four?

Head volleyball coach Betty Ralston and the spikers have set a goal for 1984 to finish in the top four in the conference. The pre-season coaches poll picked the Panthers to finish sixth.

Booters plan to keep winning ways of past

by Brent Feeney

In the past few years, the Eastern Illinois soccer team has met with great success.

The 1978 Panthers finished second in the NCAA Division II soccer tournament and followed that up the next year with a third in the championship. Two years later, the Panthers made the Final Four, their first time in the Division I championship, and came away third.

That's quite a record to improve upon, but new coach Cizo Mosnia feels he's up to the challenge. Mosnia took over the helm this year after Schellas Hyndman left Eastern for Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

"We've only got four starters back from last year's team, so we've had to play guys who didn't have much experience from last season," Mosnia said. The team has already played three games, losing its opener 1-0 to Illinois State, but came back to defeat Minnesota 3-0 and Wisconsin-Green Bay 1-0 in a tournament in Green Bay last weekend.

"There are quite a few teams that are tough in our region," Mosnia said. "Most of the teams are very good, especially around St. Louis. It looks like it could be an unpredictable season. Our biggest problem is our depth. If someone gets hurt and can't come back, we may be in big trouble."

Still, it looks as though soccer fans can expect another thrilling season from the Eastern Illinois soccer team.

Rebuilt Panthers looking to surprise some in 1984

Jeff Long

The ultimate goal for Eastern's football team, to advance in the NCAA I-AA playoffs, may be a little tougher this year than in seasons past.

The Panthers, coming off a 9-3 record and first-round I-AA playoff appearance, won't have the same dominating squad that has made them the winningest football team in Illinois in the last six years.

With 15 of last season's starters lost to graduation, the Panthers were left with a young and virtually untested group.

However, after impressive showings in their first two games, the Panthers have shown signs that they may be the horse in this season's playoff race.

"There's no doubt it's going to be a rebuilding year," Eastern head coach Al Molde said at the start of the season. "But the returning players have a positive attitude and aren't accepting any fate or predictions.

Everyone is accepting the challenge and working to be competitive and that's encouraging to the coaching staff," he added.

One intangible the 1984 team won't lack is pride. The Panthers currently boast six straight winning seasons, as well as four playoff appearances in the last six years and four consecutive Mid-Continent Conference crowns.

"Enthusiasm and confidence that comes from winning—we do have those two things," Molde said. "I think we look at this season as a real challenge."

Key returnees for the Panthers are All Americans Jerry Wright at wide receiver and Tyrone Covington at linebacker.

In addition, sophomore quarterback Sean Payton is quickly becoming a force to be reckoned with, after throwing for 648 yards in Eastern's first two games.

Change slices golfer's season as six return

by Ken Dickson

Eastern's 1984 golf team will face some major changes this season.

The only things consistent with last season will be six golfers, including four of last years' top five, and head coach Kevin Anglin.

Brent Richardson, Brent Herrin, Dave Ransom, Clay Snyder, Jay Lavick and Mike Woolam return from last spring's Association of Mid-Continent Universities' second place finishers.

The Panthers added five new golfers, including Joe Fremgen, a junior college transfer from the College of DuPage, which competed in the junior college national tournament last spring. The other five new faces include Brad Clare from O'Fallon, Todd Lindsey from Mason City, Bob McCormick from Beecher and freshman Scott Smith from Charleston.

As a whole, the team has five juniors, five sophomores and one freshman.

Golf

"We have some seasoned veterans and some guys that are good fundamental golfers that will be big assets this year as well as in the future," Anglin said. Joe Fremgen "should be able to step right in and play with the other top four."

Another of the differences is the schedule this season.

Eastern will play the bulk of its schedule in the fall this season instead of the spring as in years past. The conference schedule, which is based entirely on a conference tournament, will be held Oct. 5-6 at Cog Hill Country Club in Lamont, Il. The course is rated in the top 50 in the world.

"It's going to be a fun season," Anglin said. "I think we're better than last year and we should be competitive in every tournament we play in."

Spikers set 1984 sights on top-four GCAC finish

Joseph Anglum

To finish in the top four of the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference is what second year head volleyball coach Betty Ralston and her team are hoping to accomplish in 1984.

"We'd like to make the final four in the conference," Ralston said. "The coaches have picked us to finish sixth, but I was hoping for a fifth place finish."

The Panthers are seeded behind such volleyball powers as Illinois State, Southern Illinois and Southwest Missouri State.

However, Ralston said a bumper crop of recruits will enhance the Panthers' chance for a top four finish this season.

"We've had a good recruiting year, and we've been very pleased," she said. "We've got three freshman playing consistently and they all have the potential to play."

The Panthers will be led this season by senior co-captains Donna Uhler and Gretchen Braker, both three-year letter winners with the squad.

"Gretchen as a setter has a little better control on the floor," Ralston said. "This year's setters are determining when to make something happen."

Eastern, now 3-3 on the season, will be hosting Lewis University September 22 for its second home match.

The Panthers opened their home campaign September 5 when they dropped a close decision to the University of Illinois in three games.

Taking to the trails Men counting on leadership ...

Dan Verdun
 Leadership from the upperclassmen will be the key to success for Eastern's cross country team this season, assistant coach Tom Akers said.
 "If we get that leadership, we'll have a successful season," Akers said.
 Competition for the top five spots on the squad seems to be very tight this fall. The Panthers boast senior Scott Pillsbury, Nick Maton, Aaron Shepley, junior Dan
 Newman, and sophomore Mike
 Samuel as returning lettermen.
 However, they may be sidelined this season with an injured knee.
 At this stage of the season,
 Maton appears to have an excellent shot at the Panther's top running spot.
 The Mt. Vernon product was the finishing Panther harrier in the meet held Sept. 1.

while women expect solid year

Dan Verdun
 Eastern's women's cross country team looks to run competitively as a solid group for the 1984 season.
 "We'll have to run more as a team to be competitive," not with "one super individual carrying us," Eastern head coach Dan Lowery said.
 Leading the list of top Panther women harriers is junior Anne Ogle.
 She won the women's division of the meet and placed seventh at the Illinois earlier this season.
 "I'm expecting great things of her
 this year," Lowery said.
 Other cross country performers that Lowery feels will be factors in this season are sophomores Janine Jarris, Teresa Paul, Erin Healey and freshman Lisa Jostes.

Eastern will also enjoy the services of junior college transfers Mitch Mc-Clure and Bruce DeRuntz. In addition, redshirted senior Scott Tracy will mark
 his return this fall.

Two consecutive strong recruiting classes also key the hopes of coaches
 Neil Moore and Akers.

Atop this impressive list of talented underclassmen are sophomores Jim Barsella, Tom Kukowski, Ted Thompson, Mike Madix and freshmen Jim Maton, Dale Righter, and Darrin
 Bishop.

"We're right on schedule," Akers said. "If we can remain healthy and once our key guys are in top shape, we should be quite competitive."
